STUDENT SURVIVAL KIT

Last Sunday, AS220, the Ocean State's very own art shanty featuring live music, plays, poetry and performance artists, celebrated its fifth anniversary with free food, drink and entertainment. I could stay for only a short time and was quite high on allergy medicine but could see that all in attendance were enjoying the festivities and spirits. Their sixth year of quality program continues on Friday, September 7th, with a Sound Happening which happens to include Subgumby Soup, Tree and the legendary Larry Mondello. Saturday will contain the Cabaret of the Oddly Normal with Sir Guy D'Guy de Portagee and Hiss Band (sic) and select appearances from New Yorkers Shackwacky and locals Uncle Ed's Ear and Space Heater. AS220, of course, is also a celebrated gallery, which on SUNDAY will have the opening for recent paintings by Jacquelyn Roth Fournier and Cathy Sloat Shaw, and photos by Cynthia Davis. Works will be displayed through September. Friday's and Saturday's events begin promptly at 8:30; as for Sunday, you just have to call 831-9327.

AS220: Where else can you witness a poetry reading, a play, a roundtable discussion of Shakespeare and a rock band all in three hours? All ages.
